TO : ADTR

DATE: 6 February 1964

FROM : C/OS/TR

SUBJECT: Proposed Course - Operational Security Review

1. Attached is a proposed course outline entitled, "Operational Security Review". This was the first step in an attempt to come up with an idea which would solve the problem of "briefing or orienting" personnel who have had no operational training and whose status does not permit them to have the full treatment given at [REDACTED]. As will be noted in paragraph 2. of [REDACTED] memorandum, in the past we have accommodated such requests by putting students in portions of the Operations Support Course which cover tradecraft subjects, but this has not proved too satisfactory. The suggestion was also an attempt to develop a short review to take care of the infrequent non-Agency requests. No attempt or thought was given to substituting for coverage given in the OC or OFC.

2. Attached also is [REDACTED] memorandum of 30 January which outlines his thoughts on the proposed Operational Security Review Course. It is difficult to argue against the points which he has made. However, we still feel that it will be necessary to develop "another kind of OFC". Such a course should be clearly labeled so that it is not mistaken for or used as a substitute for OFC. We would like to explore this one further jointly with [REDACTED] and would appreciate any comments you have.
